

State Spending Sliced, But Still Is A Record

LANSING (AP) — Potential state spending decreased Friday but still hovered above $1 billion as the Senate approved half of the 1966-67 budget and a House committee reported out the other half.

The Senate almost unanimously approved six bills totaling $467.3 million, $8 million above Gov. George Romney's recommendations. But the Ways and Means Committee sent $540.9 million worth of spending to the House floor, a $56 million jump over the governor's budget.

Major house increases over Romney were in school aid, $36 million, and welfare, about $20 million. The school aid figure, however, was $29 million below what the committee had tentatively proposed a week ago.

The Senate's $8 million difference with Romney was all in higher education — but here, too, the proposal was down by $8 million from the Senate Appropriations Committee's suggestion last week.

Romney's budget totaled $944.9 million.

Over Billion

But spending would total $1.019 billion based on the partially-approved legislation. The Senate has indicated, however, it plans to cut school aid further.

Romney has warned that such a budget total would wipe out the state's $136 million treasury surplus.

The full House was supposed to have voted on its half of the budget by midnight, but a last-minute reprieve was ordered late Friday as committee work lagged until midnight. The Senate finished its budget deliberations with more than an hour to spare.

Under new deadlines, the House will have until Friday to pass its spending bills. Each chamber will then consider the other's bills with final decisions required by June 10.

The Senate Appropriations Committee's last-day cut in college and university appropriations resulted in the scrapping of a plan which had based each school's spending on a specific dollar-per-student figure.

More For Big 3

Instead, a coalition of Republicans and Democrats overrode liberal Democrats with a plan that took Romney's recommendations and added a flat amount to each without use of a formula.

The big three universities each got $1.15 million more than the governor recommended and the other schools got smaller increases. The change hit especially hard at Michigan State, whose appropriation dropped $3.7 million from the figure the committee had introduced last week.

University of Michigan was tabbed for $58.0 million, MSU for $44.2 million and Wayne State for $32.3 million.

Still included was a law school for Michigan State, but its first-year appropriation was cut from $350,000 to $250,000.

The school aid bill—reported out earlier this week—stands at $257 million, as compared to Romney's $221.5 million recommendation.

Social services and welfare programs would cost $134.7 million—down $3 million from earlier recommendations, but still much higher than Romney's $114 million.

Kelley Wants A Crash Program To Clean Waters

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley today called for a crash program to meet what he termed "a threat of major proportions to Michigan's vast water resources and to the people's right to enjoy them."

Kelley, speaking before the board of directors of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs meeting at Benton Harbor, said of the water pollution issue, "The time to express concern is passed and the time to sound the alarm has come."

Water pollution, Kelley said, "is reaching the crisis stage."

The Detroit River, he said, is polluted beyond reasonable limits.

Many river basins, such as the Kalamazoo, the Grand River, the Huron and the Clinton, carry a much larger load of pollution than they should, he said.

No State Help

Kelley said the state "has not contributed one red cent of its money nor made any use of its taxing powers toward helping municipalities in carrying out water pollution control efforts."

He proposed a "crash program" which would include lending state aid to municipalities to help defray the cost of construction of sewage control works.

One means of doing this, Kelley said, would be through creation of a $200 million revolving fund for making loans to municipalities for water supply and sewage projects.

Need Definition

Kelley said the Legislature should pass a law defining what is a navigable river or stream — this to prevent closing off the river or stream by private interests.

Kelley said the Legislature should pass a law defining what is a navigable river or stream — this to prevent closing off the river or stream by private interests.

He asked for stronger laws to control water diversion, particularly from one watershed to another. "The stake is large," said Kelley. "It is our water wonderland. We cannot let it go by default."

Finland Fire Fatal To 29

KUOPIO, Finland (AP) — Twenty-nine men died in a fire Friday night when they were trapped in their locked, escape-proof rooms at the Lapinlahti mental home in eastern Finland.

Only seven of the 36 patients were saved. Three were injured and one was reported in critical condition.

Kuopio police said firefighting efforts were hampered by a water shortage. In addition to being locked, the patients' rooms had unbreakable window panes.

Visit Air Bases

LANSING (AP) — Lenore Romney, wife of Gov. George Romney, and Ely Peterson state Republican chairman, will be among a group of Michigan women taking part next week in "Operation Understanding," an Army-sponsored tour of missile and other air defense bases. They leave Monday for a tour of bases in Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Colorado. The group returns Saturday.

Doctors Treat DeRudder For Brain Damage

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Methodist Hospital authorities said today that although Marcel DeRudder remains unconscious after a partial artificial heart was implanted in his chest his electroencephalograph "would suggest slight improvement."

The early morning advisory quoted his attending physician as saying DeRudder "appears better in every respect."

Blood pressure and pulse appear within the normal range and the heart pump continues to function satisfactorily, performing approximately 75 per cent of the left ventricle's work, the advisory said.

DeRudder, 65, began undergoing treatment Friday for removal of excess brain fluid. Physicians said DeRudder suffered possible brain damage during Thursday's six-hour operation when an artificial pump took over part of the work load of the left ventricle of his own heart.

An advisory late Friday said it was hoped "any possible brain damage" would be temporary. "This condition has been encountered previously in open heart cases," the bulletin said.

Pump Working

The former coal miner's lack of response, the advisory continued, was not due to the plastic pump, "which is working satisfactorily."

After assuming about 67 per cent of the work normally done by DeRudder's left ventricle, the pump began carrying 75 per cent of the work load, an earlier advisory said.

DeRudder's wife, Edna, 60, arrived by plane from their home in Westville, Ill., and visited her husband late Friday.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, heart surgeon who performed the operation with a team of specialists, briefed Mrs. DeRudder on her husband's condition before she saw him in a special three-room intensive care suite.

Wife Visits

Mrs. DeRudder, a grocery clerk who had to support her husband recently because of his heart ailment, said he had suffered heart trouble for 25 years.

"My husband told me he was willing to be a human guinea pig. That way, he said, maybe they would learn something that would save someone else."

Mrs. DeRudder said in Chicago as she prepared to fly to Texas.

Dr. DeBakey, meanwhile, said DeRudder's unconsciousness may be blamed on edema, a swelling caused by an unusually large amount of fluid in the brain.

Ford Executive Salaries Listed

DEARBORN (AP) — Henry Ford II, chairman of the board of Ford Motor Company, received salary and fees totaling $200,000 in 1965, the firm's proxy statement disclosed Friday.

In addition, Ford was awarded $450,000 in supplemental compensation payable in four annual installments or deferred, the company said.

Ford's 45 directors and officers were paid a total of $3,233,293, plus $5,610,000 in supplemental income awards for the year.

Arjay Miller, company president, was the second highest paid executive, receiving $175,912 in salary and fees, and another $450,000 in supplemental compensation.

Charles Patterson, executive vice president, was paid $161,861 in salary and fees and was awarded another $400,000 in supplementals.

Johnson Sees Viet Nam Unity In Due Course

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, conceding some supply problems and political splits in South Viet Nam, predicts that in due course the people there will achieve unity and a constitutional government.

Johnson also told a surprise news conference Friday that he does not expect Republican leaders to try to capitalize on the administration's Viet Nam policies as a political issue in the November congressional elections.

He added that Democrats never had "a more comprehensive record or a better record to campaign on" and said his party will go into the election with a strong edge.

The President said the administration is not yet approaching the time for decision on possible anti-inflation moves such as a tax increase or wage-price controls.

Some critics of the Viet Nam war paraded outside — Johnson apparently did not see them — and the President made an off-the-cuff reference to suggestions that a new pause in bombings of North Viet Nam might promote peace. As if addressing the Communists, he said:

"Don't ask us to stop everything you're doing while you pound us. Don't ask us to stop everything you're doing while you're marching on women and children."

Discussing Viet Nam, Johnson said the people there "are going through a trying period" and that the country is split by regional, religious and tribal differences.

"But I do believe," he said, "there is every reason to believe we'll come through it and in due time a nation will be born and the constitutional government will be formed."

Estes Cited In Perjury

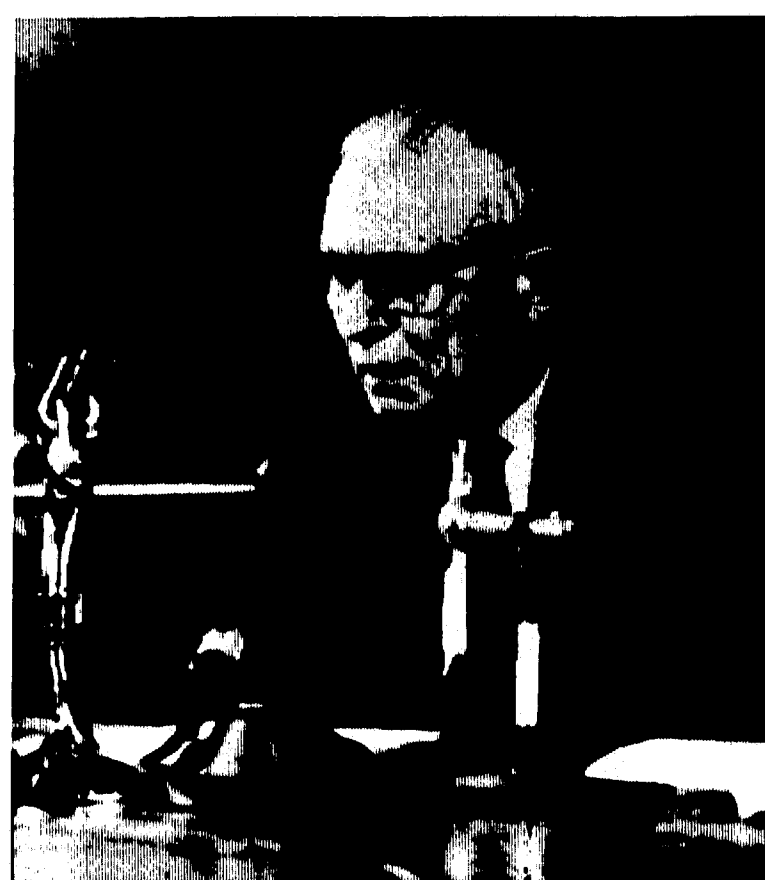

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Instead of the retrial Billie Sol Estes sought in his multimillion-dollar fraud case, the imprisoned promoter faced a prospect today of prosecution on a charge of lying under oath.

U. S. Dist. Judge Leo Brewster said Friday that Estes "got caught recharged in as brazen an exhibition of perjury as I have ever seen in the 40 years I have been going to the courtroom."

The judge read a 14-page statement in refusing to set aside Estes' 15-year sentence for peddling worthless anhydrous ammonia (fertilizer) tank mortgages to nearly a dozen finance companies.

He held that defense lawyers failed to prove that a Chicago official of one lending firm gave false testimony at Estes' trial here in 1963 or that there was new evidence to justify another jury hearing the case.

"My opinion is that there is no reasonable probability that the defendant would be acquitted or would get a hung jury on a new trial," Judge Brewster said.

President Calls For End To Unsafe Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, calling for prompt congressional passage of safety legislation, says the nation can no longer tolerate "anarchy on wheels."

"The nation must do something 'about the slaughter — the senseless slaughter — on our highways,'" Johnson told members of Congress and transportation industry leaders Friday as he proclaimed the week of May 15-22 National Transportation Week.

The President also urged creation of a Cabinet-level Department of Transportation, which he proposed earlier, to pull together dozens of agencies "scattered all over the place."

But he placed the emphasis on highway safety in his talk, noting that 50,000 Americans die each year on highways.

Viet Cong Unit Slips Through Trap To Jungle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A regiment of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops slipped through an allied trap today and, though badly mauled, escaped into the jungles.

The insurgents, almost surrounded by U. S. Marines and South Vietnamese government troops six miles northwest of Quang Ngai, apparently found a hole in the perimeter and faded off to the west.

A U. S. military spokesman said allied forces had gone in on tips from a Viet Cong defector to get at the 1st Viet Cong Regiment and the 21st North Vietnamese Regiment. The two units were forced together after they were battered by U. S. Marines in Operations Utah and Texas in March.

What was left took a new mauling but not as much as the allied officers had expected. The original figure of 257 Communists killed over a 48-hour fire fight was scaled down to 220. Allied casualties were described as light.

The crash occurred on the W. R. Goddard ranch which sprawls over several thousand acres in this rich oil and agricultural area.

Mrs. W. A. Broughton, a caretaker on the ranch, described the scene "terrible. The plane is just all over the mountain-side."

The plane left Ft. Ord during the evening and was scheduled to make a fuel stop at the former Air Force base, now used for municipal air traffic.

Report of the crash sent scores of federal, state and local officers swarming over the area, guiding emergency vehicles and restricting the many spectators who clogged highways into the area.

The wreckage wasn't located until a half-hour after the crash, because of the isolated location two miles from the airport runway and because of fog and rain. The crash occurred shortly after 9:30 p.m. (EST).

17 Survivors Hospitalized In Ardmore, Okla.

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — A chartered airliner crashed in the foothills of the rugged Arbuckle Mountains in southern Oklahoma Friday night, killing 81 of its 98 passengers, most of them Army recruits preparing for advanced basic training.

Seventeen survivors of the crash, which occurred when the huge turboprop overshot a converted World War II air base runway, were hospitalized, most of them in critical condition.

The dead were taken to a temporary morgue set up in Ardmore's Civic Auditorium.

There, 81 bodies were counted within a few hours after scores of rescuers began the grim task of moving victims from the heavily timbered hillside.

The death toll included one person who survived the crash but died later in an Ardmore hospital.

The official death count was confirmed by Col. George Donovan, battalion commander of the Ardmore National Guard unit.

There were 92 Army recruits and six civilian crew members aboard the plane.

The American Flyers airliner was to have stopped in Ardmore for fuel. It was flying from Ft. Ord, Calif., where the recruits had just completed basic training, to Ft. Benning, Ga., where they were to start airborne and other types of advanced training.

Pilot Dead

The plane was piloted by Reed Pigman, president of American Flyers. Pigman was identified as one of the dead.

A search continued through the night for victims of the crash, which left wreckage scattered over a wide area.

"It looked like an oil well blowing up," an eyewitness, Richardo Herrera, 23, an American Flyers student said.

"The plane wobbled all over the place as we were coming down," said Pvt. James Gorman of Bellerose, N.Y., one of the survivors. "Then the plane hit."

Pvt. Joseph Deeny, 20, Lindenwood, N.J., said he "had to crawl to get away from the flames — they were licking at my legs."

Gorman said he was still fastened by his seat belt when the plane slammed to earth.

"Fire All Around

"There was fire all around me and I undid my seat belt and got out ... But I didn't have to climb out. There wasn't any more plane."

Airport First:

New Terminal, Longer Runway In Budget Plan

The Escanaba City Council, busy with the review of the 1966-67 city budget, is expected to approve budgeting $78,000 for the development of the municipal airport.

The $78,000 item heads the proposed city budget and must be equalled with a similar amount next year to meet the city's share of the planned $500,000 airport improvement program.

Approximately 25 per cent of the total cost will be borne by the City, 25 per cent will come from state funds, and 50 per cent will be in federal money.

The start of the project will be in September, 1967, if everything goes well, said City Manager George Harvey.

The $78,000 budgeted by the city will be invested and is expected to earn about $2,000, which duplicated in the year ahead will bring the city's total participation in the project to $160,000.

Extend Runway
Escanaba's airport project plans will be reviewed by Michigan Department of Aeronautics in meeting next month. The most costly portion of the airport development program will be the construction of an extension to the west end of the east-west runway. The runway will be extended by 1,500 feet to a total of 6,500 feet to accommodate North Central jet planes.

There will be a terminal building in a new location (south of the present terminal building and nearer the place where the runways cross) with a new access road off M 35. The terminal building is estimated to cost $100,000.

Besides the extended runway and the new terminal building, the project includes development of taxiways, aprons, access road, and site improvements.

Other Projects

The Council also has before it for consideration in the 1966-67 budget:

Street paving jobs whose cost to the city will be $29,281; grading and graveling that will cost the city $14,466; storm sewer costing $4,598; and water mains to cost $10,011.

The heating of city buildings with the phasing out of the central steam heating plant will cost an estimated $12,532.

Construction of a harbor master's building at the yacht basin will cost a total of $20,000, of which the city will pay $10,000 and the Michigan Waterways Commission $10,000.

Other capital outlay budget items are city recreation items costing $6,200. These include $2,500 for a tennis court at Rose Park and $2,700 for city-school playground near the Athletic Field, site of a new elementary school.

The capital outlay cost totals $123,465 of which all but $10,000 will come from the general fund. The $10,000 will be from the water fund for water mains.

Milk Permits Will Be Tardy

EAST LANSING — While Michigan's new fluid milk law, effective July 1, requires every Grade-A dairy farmer to have a producer permit in order to sell milk, it may be as late as October or November before he really has one.

In the meantime, he may continue to sell milk, and his hauler may continue to pick it up.

Michigan's dairy fieldmen received this advice this week at Michigan State University.

Kenneth Feighner, general supervisor, Dairy Division, Michigan Department of Agriculture, said his department will begin issuing permits about June 1, but that it may take four months or more to get all the inspections made.

He advised that the producer should fill out the application supplied by the company to which he sells milk, and then hold it until the state dairy inspector makes his visit and inspection.

"If the producer is in compliance, a permit will be issued and placed upon his milkhouse wall," Feighner said. "If he is not in compliance, he will be allowed time to achieve compliance and another inspection will be made."

The producer who is substantially in compliance with the present Michigan Grade-A law will have no difficulty in being approved for the newly required permit, Feighner indicated.

But he had this admonition. Once the inspection is completed, the producer permit becomes the producer's license to sell milk. If it is not on his milkhouse wall, it is a violation for him to sell milk, a violation for the hauler to pick it up.

Priest Walks Out When Detroit KC Refuses Negro

DETROIT (AP) — A third Detroit police executive has disclosed that he resigned from the Knights of Columbus, a Roman Catholic fraternal organization, because a lodge rejected a Negro detective twice.

The official, Frederick Wright, police personnel director, said Friday he walked out of the hall the night the Msgr. Flanagan Council No. 3180 turned down Detective George Jackson of the homicide bureau for the second time.

Joining in the walkout were Chief of Detectives Vincent Piersante and the police chaplain, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis X. Canfield.

Canfield was voted into the council at the same time Jackson was rejected and was waiting in the outer lobby as a candidate when Wright and Piersante walked out of the hall together.

"We told him, 'well, you're in, but Jackson's out,'" Wright recalled. "The monsignor became enraged. He said, 'I'm not in, and I won't be in.'"

Wright said he has known Jackson for years.

"He was one of my patrolmen when I was a precinct commander. You can't find a better man, or a better Catholic, in the city," he said. "He is extremely well liked, and there can be only one reason for his being refused."

Gooch To Direct Program For MSU

EAST LANSING — Michigan State University has appointed as full-time director for its continuing education program in the Upper Peninsula James Gooch of Marquette, who has served as MSU's U.P. information specialist for eight years.

The post had previously been included in a joint appointment, which included supervision of the University's Cooperative Extension Service, under Dr. A. S. Mowery.

"Gooch will work closely with the Cooperative Extension agents and other universities, and will be in a good position to respond to a broad variety of community needs," said Dr. Floyd G. Parker, assistant director of MSU's Continuing Education Service.

"The emphasis will be on cooperative agreements with other universities and regional organizations, and major attention will be focused on unique resources available at MSU and not available from regional universities or community colleges."

The Continuing Education Service became an official part of the university's administrative structure in 1944. Its mission is the organization and administration of all off-campus credit courses offered, plus conferences, short courses, consulting services and other non-credit programs, with the exception of those in agriculture and home economics offered by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Resources are drawn from the University's 12 colleges.

After graduating from the University of Missouri in 1947, Gooch served as an assistant editor for the national community on boys and girls club-work in Chicago for two years. He was field editor of the national farm magazine for four years before joining the Ralston Purina Co. in St. Louis, Mo., where he served as research editor.

He joined the MSU staff in 1958.

Spearers Active At Rapid River

The efforts of the Conservation Dept. and area sportsmen's clubs to revive sports fishing in Little Bay de Noc are meeting their annual spring setback in the Rapid River area.

Spearers are active at night, according to Conservation officers.

"It's the same situation as it's always been," said Robert Timmer, Escanaba district law supervisor. "The officers are out every night taking spears away."

"We had hoped this year might be different," he continued, "but it's not."

Spawning Season
Walleyes and northern pike are in the midst of their annual spawning period and in shallow water make easy prey for spearers. Officers and sportsmen are concerned because efforts throughout the year to rebuild walleye and northern pike populations in the bay are cancelled out by violators with spears.

The Conservation Dept. placed 50 northern pike in its new pond at the head of Little Bay de Noc last week.

"How many more than 50 pike are taken each spring by spearfishing?" one officer frowned.

Timmer said officers from other districts will be brought into the Rapid River area and patrols will be increased in an effort to reduce illegal activity. He said kids are a major problem.

Four men were arrested in the head of the bay area Thursday night. Three were charged with unlawfully attempting to take fish from the waters of Little Bay de Noc by means of a spear and artificial light.

Charges Made
Spearfishing charges were made against Wayne R. Gilliland, 25, of Escanaba; John J. Doucette, 26, Escanaba, and Roger Hanley Jr., 25, Rte. 1, Escanaba.

Gilliland pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned Friday before Justice A. J. Mortier and paid a $10 fine and $7.30 court costs. Doucette pleaded innocent and had trial tentatively set for May 3. Hanley posted $35 bond with Delta County Sheriff's officers to guarantee a court appearance.

Also arrested was David G. Harwood of Rapid River. He was charged with operating a motorboat without proper registration, failing to stop immediately when hailed by a conservation officer and operating the boat between the hours of sunset and sunrise without lights.

He pleaded guilty to all charges and was assessed fines and costs of $30 by Justice Ross Davis.

Intruder Held; $75 Missing

A Green Bay man, surprised in the office of an Escanaba dentist who reported to police that $75 is missing from a desk drawer, today is held in the Delta County jail in default of $2,500 bond.

He is Carlton A. Anderson, 45, of 1014 Pine, Green Bay. He is charged with breaking and entering, a Circuit Court offense, and will receive preliminary examination later.

Escanaba police reported that Dr. Roger Beauchamp returned to his dental office at 1830 Ludington St. at 1:20 p. m. Friday and surprised Anderson, who was standing inside the office.

After a brief conversation Anderson went out, ran east across Ludington St. and entered a car. From the description furnished police the arrest followed about 2:20 p. m. when police found the car parked in a restaurant driveway south of Escanaba on M 35.

Trout Prospect Marred By Cold

Unless sunny weather burns away the snow and ice and dries up back roads before April 30, trout fishermen are in for some disagreeable conditions for the opening of the season in the northern part of the Escanaba District.

Trout lakes in the Marquette and Republic areas are still ice-covered, some lakes have ice on them in the Munising area, there is snow throughout those sections and the roads are bad, reports the Conservation Department.

The streams and rivers in the U.P. are high, cold, and rather murky.

Although trout fishermen will be in for some bonechilling action next weekend, it should warm their spirits to hear there is a chance that steelhead runs may be "pretty good" by then.

The big factor here, as usual, is the weather. If it stays on the warm side, Department fisheries men look for steelhead runs from Lake Superior to pace the fishing action.

As in the past, the region's best steelhead waters will include the Middle and East branches of the Ontonagon River in Ontonagon County; Big Huron River in Baraga and Marquette counties; Sucker, Miners and Laughing Whitefish rivers in Alger County; Little

Crop Scientist For U.P. Named

Dr. Donald J. Reid has been appointed as a specialist in crop science for the Upper Peninsula. A native of Texas who earned his B. Sc. degree from California State Polytechnic College in 1959, he received his M. Sc. and Ph. D. degrees in agronomy from Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

The new crop scientist will be located at the U. P. Extension Center in Marquette and conduct cooperative research with the U. P. Experiment Station at Chatham. His work will deal with development of crops for the U. P., particularly with forages for livestock. He will conduct cooperative research on forages, potatoes and turf production with Dr. Donald Thurlow who is the MSU soil scientist for the Upper Peninsula. Another project will be development of new seed crops for the area such as birdsfoot trefoil.

Much of the research will be in cooperation with Upper Peninsula farmers.

George McIntyre of East Lansing, associate director of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, has appointed MSU Extension Economist Rick Hartwig of Marquette as acting supervisor of the U. P. Cooperative Extension office at Marquette. Hartwig, who has served as a district Extension specialist in the Upper Peninsula for 16 years, will also continue to represent the MSU Agricultural Economics Department.

Automobile Safety

The public has been getting more of the politicians' side of the automobile safety inquiry, it seems to us, than of the industry's side. This is rather natural, since the initiative has been with the inquirers and accusers. The army that has the initiative gets most of the attention, and most of the victories, in any war. (There are, of course, some notable exceptions, like Napoleon's march on Moscow.)

One of the Upper Peninsula's biggest automobile dealers was asked his view of the public interest in the U.S. Senate inquiry into automobile safety.

He discounted any hopes that there will be magic results in automobile engineering changes which will make cars much safer than they are today.

He thought that the senators are projecting their personal convictions about automotive safety as standards for car making, in preference to the judgment of engineers who know most about the problems.

And he thought that the inquiry, while proper in its inspection of one factor in a problem that kills 50,000 Americans on the highways every year, had strong political motivations.

Much has been made of the need for recall of automobiles to replace faulty parts or assemblies, and this sort of thing has had a lot of public attention because of the inquiry. Our auto dealer said that this has gone on all ways in the industry without fanfare.

New cars are tested exhaustively, he said, but under actual highway use conditions, with their enormous variety of problems and excesses, some bugs inevitably develop. A stone spun by a tire pushes a brake line against a brake drum and cuts it; icing causes acceleration malfunction, etc. The problems are identified by usage and the faults are fixed.

Yearly model changes increase the problem of making cars free of safety bugs. But Volkswagen doesn't change styling of its standard beetle much (it says it constantly refines its mechanics) and yet auto safety critic Ralph Nader (author of "Unsafe at Any Speed"), having blasted away at American cars, told the Senate committee "It is hard to find a more dangerous car than the Volkswagen."

Henry Ford II teed off on Nader in a speech at a new auto plant near Detroit, saying that the U.S. highway kill was obviously a bad situation, but that to blame it solely on the automobile was very unfair. "We have always built safe cars," he said "but that is not to say that we can't make them safer, and that is what we do every model year."

Ford repeated the obvious truth that the driver is the most important factor in automobile accidents. "If you drive safely, accidents won't happen. Roads are an important part; licensing of drivers is important, and we feel in our industry that vehicle inspection is very important."

"I don't think that Ralph Nader knows very much about automobiles. He can read statistics and he can look up a lot of facts and write books, but I don't think he knows anything about engineering safety in automobiles."

In counsel to Legislators that should have the backing of the public Ford urged them to consider the impact upon the automobile industry of several auto safety laws that have been proposed. Cars are now indispensable to modern American living and they're expensive. It would be no great public service to make them somewhat safer at a great increase in cost and do nothing about the prime cause of accidents—bad drivers.

STILBESTROL?
The Conservation Department has pulled a lot of boners, but this last one, if they pull it, takes the cake. Because others may not know so much on the subject, it is my duty to inform them.

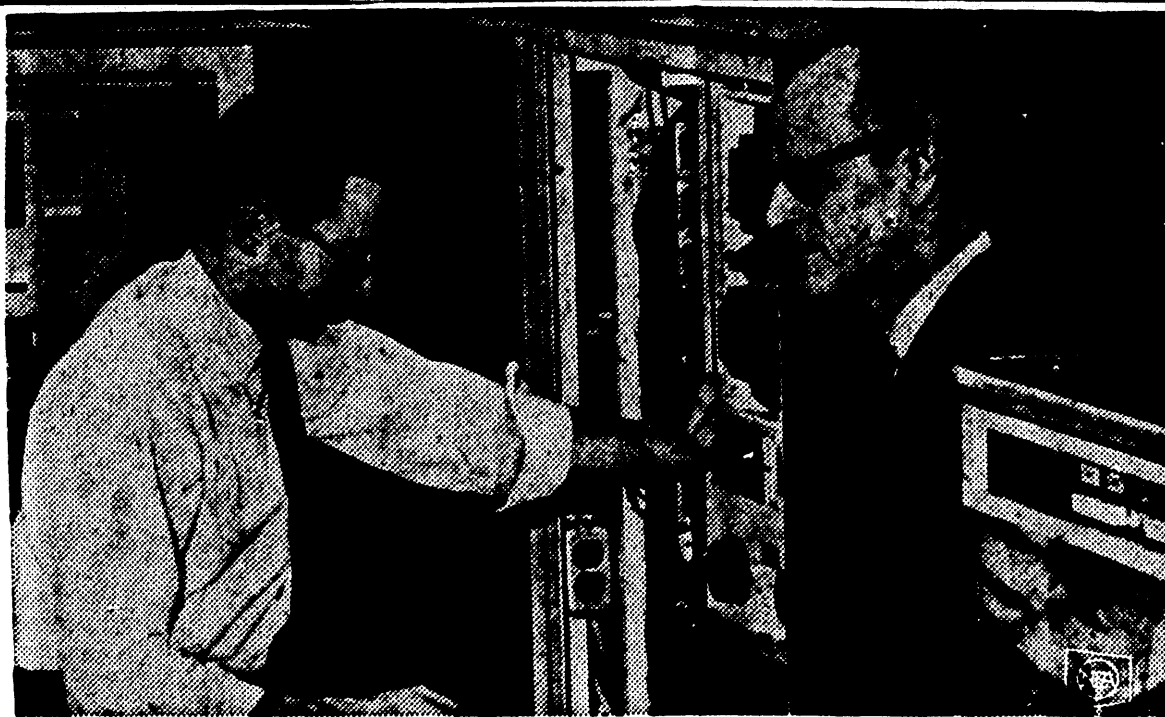

Stilbestrol will cut down on the coyote population all right. Is that as far as the conservation men can see? How many of our winter birds are meat eaters? Ravens, crows, blue jays, chickadees, woodpeckers, gulls, teal ducks, and many others could pick up the bits. And stilbestrol will sterilize birds for life not just for the season.

What is the use of planting wild turkeys up here if they are going to put out bait that will sterilize them?

We know from experience that this is all true. It has also been found that stilbestrol causes tumors. We don't want our dogs, cats, or wildlife fed something that can cause such damage.

Closing In On Cancer

300 Million Cancer Clues

By ROBERT COCHNAR
NEW YORK (NEA) — More than a few residents of a quiet southern town were disturbed not too long ago when they saw the headline in their afternoon newspaper.

"Wanted Dead or Alive," it read. "If you have any information concerning the whereabouts of Mr. and Mrs. Barton Younger, please call the American Cancer Society."

Had the Society launched a missing persons bureau as a sideline? Was it helping the FBI? Had the Youngers skipped town with contributions collected in the last cancer drive? The townsfolk didn't know.

Nevertheless, within an hour after the paper was published, five people called the Society and gave it the couples' new address in a distant city.

The Youngers were being traced in this melodramatic fashion because they are members of a clan of more than a million Americans who for nearly six years have served as subjects in a nationwide study to find answers to two questions:

• Who are the "high risk" people who get cancer while their friends and neighbors do not?

• Why?

Of the many cancer enigmas, these were selected by the American Cancer Society as targets for the largest study of its kind ever undertaken anywhere in the world. It's called the Cancer Prevention Study.

When the last follow-up is completed this year, more than 300 million bits of information will have been collected by 68,000 volunteers. The information, when analyzed, will present important clues to the most baffling medical puzzle of our times.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, chief of the ACS statistical research center, who conceived the study, is convinced that the study will give cancer researchers a potent weapon with which to attack the causes of cancer and, possibly, arrest them.

The study, which was launched in 1959, has already developed an incredible amount of data in which not only cancer researchers are vitally interested.

Although the primary purpose of the study is naturally to cure and prevent cancer, the statisticians are uncovering many bonuses.

For example, out of the million persons originally interviewed, about 45,000 have already died and, as expected, a large proportion of them died from heart and circulatory diseases.

It is not surprising, therefore, that results are of considerable interest to specialists in many fields.

"Many of our subjects have moved," Dr. Hammond points out, "and in tracing them and obtaining their records we are collecting material about the shift of people from country to city, about the effects of migration on health and the family."

But were it not for the 68,000 volunteers who were willing to stay with the study for six years, it is doubtful that any information would have been obtained.

According to Dr. Hammond the volunteers are "average Americans from everywhere in the nation, from any age group and any occupation."

"Without their willingness to give their time without pay, the survey could never have been started. It would have cost more than $40 million if handled by professional workers and, even then, I doubt that any amount of money could buy this kind of infectious zest and determination."

The job of the volunteer is demanding. Each has been gathering facts in orderly and dependable form — not just once, but repeatedly — on about 15 fellow Americans. That's a total of 1,078,894 people.

The volunteers write letters, ring doorbells, call telephone numbers and scan obituaries in 25 states and 1,121 counties. Each researcher is charged with checking the members of his allotted subjects at least once a year, marking "Dead" or "Alive" for each original entrant. If dead, he secures and records the official death certificate.

Every other year, he calls people on his "live" list to complete a supplementary questionnaire which adds more data on disease and hospitalization to the growing mass of environmental facts already stored on magnetic tape in the Cancer Society's New York headquarters.

Amazingly, at least 97 per cent of the original subjects have been traced and recorded for the study's full period.

Ann Landers

Wife's Feelings Hurt By Tactless Remark

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have eight lovely children. Last night we were discussing the eldest. She is a very attractive girl and is doing exceptionally well in her studies. Naturally we are proud of her.

In the course of the conversation, my husband leaned back in his chair and said, "Yes, she is a lovely girl. And nothing would please me more than to see her grow up to be just like my sister."

My husband's sister is a fine person and we are good friends, but I was deeply hurt by his remark and I told him so. He said I was silly and that you would agree with him. Do you?

25 Years Ago

Dear Peaches: No, I don't. Your husband was tactless in the extreme. I wonder how he would have liked it if your eldest son had been under discussion, and you had said, "I hope he grows up to be just like my brother." Ask him and see what he says.

25 Years Ago

Dear Ann Landers: Our 20-year-old daughter phoned from college to say she was bringing a young man home for the weekend. She said she was considering becoming engaged, which was a surprise to us.

When we met them at the bus depot Friday night we were shocked that the boy didn't have a suitcase. He came with only the clothes on his back. He had no pajamas, no clean shirt — not even a shaving kit. He asked my husband if he could borrow his razor because "he didn't have time to pack anything."

We had relatives over Saturday and the boy didn't even stand up when he was introduced to aunts and uncles. His manners were appalling and his conversation was so stupid I couldn't understand what our daughter saw in him. Her father was so upset that he was tempted to ask the boy to leave. I begged him to be quiet.

Before they returned to school Sunday morning our daughter apologized for bringing him home and thanked us for our patience. We were very much relieved and want to know what cooled her off so fast. I thought love was blind.

Religion is not a gimmick that automatically insures happy marriage, well-behaved children or social well-being. But the family that prays together ultimately learns from God Himself the meaning of love, understanding and sacrifice. And these affect our homes ... and our world.

Cracked Eggs Can't Be Sold

Further steps to prevent movement of cracked eggs into consumer channels became effective in April through amendment to the state egg law of 1963.

The purpose is to eliminate the hazard of food poisoning traceable to several types of organisms associated with eggs. Under the amendment now effective, no dealer may offer cracked eggs for resale except to a licensed egg-breaking plant. Any egg producer, however, may sell cracked eggs to egg grading stations, egg breaking plants, or directly to a consumer for his own family use.

This prohibits movement of cracked eggs in the shell to bakeries, institutions, restaurants, hotels or any other eating or processing establishments. This practice was permitted in the past.

Another of the vacant high school football coaching posts in the Upper Peninsula was filled this week when Rex Terwilliger, former Northern Michigan University football and track star, was named to succeed Rae Drake at Kingsford. Drake resigned after 13 highly successful seasons to join Rollie Dotsch on the staff at Northern. Terwilliger, an outstanding Northern halfback before graduating in 1958, has been football coach at Ewart in lower Michigan for the past four years. He is a native of Farwell, Mich. There were about 50 candidates for the Kingsford post.

There are still two head football vacancies in the Great Northern Conference. Holy Name has not yet named a successor to John Kircher and Stephenson has not replaced Ken Hofer. Kircher resigned to take a similar job at Archbishop Curley High School in Miami and Hofer shifted to Menominee where he succeeds John Knipfel.

Kingsford got off on the right foot in track this spring as the Flivvers topped Iron Mountain, 61-48, in dual action. Jim Strolberg was a double winner for Coach Dick McCarthy's Flivvers, copping the pole vault with a height of 10 feet 8 inches and winning the high hurdles in 16.85 seconds. Iron Mountain's Al Schupp set a new Kingsford field record in the mile with a 4:45.6 clocking. The old record of 4:48.3 was set by Escanaba's Tom Duchaine in the Great Northern Conference meet last year.

Iron River also won its first outdoor track meet under new coach Bill Rademacher, defeating Crystal Falls by a 55-49 margin. Gerry Bartolini of Crystal Falls was the only double winner with a time of 41 feet 8 inches in the shot put and a height of 5 feet 4 inches in the high jump. The outstanding individual performance of the meet, which was run in extremely cold weather, was turned in by Iron River hurdler Duane Meyer. He skimmed the 120 yard high hurdles in 15.8 seconds which is faster than any U. P. athlete ran them last year and only four tenths of a second off the all-time U. P. record set by Gene Pearson of Marquette in 1960.

Tom Rosandich, an international sports figure, will be the speaker at the annual Ironwood Rotary Club's all sports banquet honoring athletes from Ironwood and St. Ambrose high schools and Gogebic College Tuesday, April 26. Rosandich has been a high school, college, military and international coach and has served as an American Ambassador of sports for the U. S. State Department in 45 countries. He is currently director of the Olympia Sports Village near Upson, Wis.

Dan VanWolvenlaere of Norway, a sophomore at Northern Michigan University, will compete in the Intercollegiate Bowling Championships in Rochester, N. Y., Sunday, April 24. The Norway regier earned the right to advance to the national finals by finishing first in the all events division in regional competition against some 13,000 college bowlers representing 184 colleges and universities throughout the country.

Trades Pay Off In Playoff For Red Wing Coach

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit fans may have had some second thoughts during the regular National Hockey League season about a couple of trades made by Red Wings Manager-coach Sid Abel.

Abel traded defenseman Marcel Pronovost to Toronto to get Andy Bathgate before the season started, then made a swap with Boston which brought Leo Boivin and Dean Prentice to the Red Wings.

Bathgate, seventh leading all-time scorer in the NHL at the start of the season, failed to score in more than 30 straight games at one stretch and finished with 15 goals, his lowest season total since he became a regular with New York in the 1954-55 season.

Prentice started the season with 229 career goals and scored 13 this year, six of them in 18 games with the Red Wings.

Even with the added firepower, the Red Wings slipped from first to fourth place.

The earlier announcement of the Bay de Noc Club's date by the U. P. Beagle Club Association was incorrect.

Five Errors Already

Boyer Can't Find Handle This Year

By The Associated Press
Ken Boyer would like to stop fielding like a New York Met, and the Cincinnati Reds would like to start hitting like Frank Robinson.

Boyer, the National League's best fielding third baseman while with St. Louis last year, committed three errors that contributed to Atlanta's 8-4 victory over the Mets Friday night.

The Reds, meanwhile, again failed to play their role as pre-season pennant favorites by dropping their sixth straight game, 6-7 to Philadelphia.

Boyer made only 12 errors all last season but already has five this year, all in the last three games. Two of them came in the third inning when the Braves erupted for three runs and a 4-0 lead.

The Reds did some erupting of their own for the first time this season but it wasn't enough to solve their problems.

Their 11-hit display raised the team batting average to .241, a level far below team mark of .273 and even further below Frank Robinson's .417.

Robinson is the slugging outfielder whom the Reds traded to the Baltimore Orioles during the winter in an attempt to strengthen their pitching. That strength hasn't been visible, but the weakness at the plate has.

The seven runs against the Braves marked the first time this year the Reds have scored more than four runs in a game. They also have hit only four home runs as a team, the same number Robinson has.

"It's a good ball club," Manager Don Hefner insisted. "They're all breaking their necks to snap out of this. Our pitching has been good and so has the fielding. We've made some errors, but we just haven't been getting the tough run in."

Or the easy one either.

In the only NL games, Los Angeles edged Chicago 2-1, St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh 7-5 and Houston trimmed San Francisco 2-0.

In the only American League game, California nipped Minnesota 2-1. Rain washed out Chicago at Kansas City and Detroit at Washington.

Curt Flood's fifth-inning three-run homer snapped Pittsburgh's winning streak at six games. The blow broke the 4-4 deadlock created by Willie Stargell's three-run homer in the top of the inning.

Home runs by Joe Morgan and Jim Gentile stopped San Francisco's winning string at five. The homers backed the eight-hit pitching of Dave Giusti, whose three hits were the first for an Astro pitcher this season.

The victory gave Michigan a 12-4 record for the season. Indiana is 8-10.

First baseman Chan Simonds of the Wolverines knocked in three runs on a homer and a single. Losing pitcher was Erv Ininger.

Eskymos Win First Outdoor Track Test

MANISTIQUE — Escanaba's track and field team lost none of its early season glitter in the first outdoor test of the campaign here Friday, copping first place in a triangular meet with Manistique and Gladstone.

Coach Henry Wylie's Eskymos, who topped a large field of Class A-B teams in their indoor debut at Northern a week ago, scored 63½ points while Gladstone tallied 43 and Manistique 30½.

Escanaba snatched seven firsts and earned points in every event except the pole vault in which the Eskymos did not enter.

A pair of double winners paced the Esqy squad to their first outdoor triumph. Jim Boyle, stylish junior hurdler, copped both his specialties. His 15.8 clocking in the highs was exceptional and his 22 flat in the lows matched his best time of last season.

Sprinter Gary Vandeville churned the cinders for a 10.7 century and hit the tape in 24.1 in the 220.

Other Eskymo winners were Jim Hansen in the shot put, Paul Miller in the high jump and the half mile relay team of Boyle, Vandeville, Bill Bellefeuille and Bob Irish.

Coach Bob Richards' Gladstone Braves earned four firsts in the meet that was run off in good weather. Gary Micheau won the long jump, Carl Nor-kooli the half mile in 2:09.4, Dick Anderson the 440 yard dash and the mile relay unit.

Coach Rudie Brandstrom's host Emeralds produced two individual winners. Jerry Leach steamed home first in the mile event in 4 minutes 48.2 seconds and Ron Asp topped the field in the pole vault.

The Eskymos will return to action in a home stand against Marquette Tuesday afternoon and will host the Great Northern Conference meet Saturday, April 30.

Sandy Surprises With Full Game; Fans 11 Batsmen

CHICAGO (AP) — One of the most surprised baseball players when Sandy Koufax went the distance and struck out 11 Chicago Cubs in a 2-1 Los Angeles victory Friday was Sandy Koufax.

Koufax, who ended his marathon holdout only three weeks ago, held the Cubs to six hits in recording his second victory in as many decisions.

It was the third start for Koufax, who previously failed to go beyond six innings.

Koufax held the Cubs hitless in the first three innings, yielded three hits and a run in the fourth and then began humming like the Koufax who won 26 games and the Cy Young Award last year.

"When I got in trouble in the fourth I reached back for a little something extra and there it was," laughed Koufax. "From then on my rhythm, my stuff, my control, everything seemed to get better. It really surprised me."

"As far as I'm concerned this is still spring training for me," said Koufax. "Sure the games mean more, but I've been at it only three weeks."

Koufax seemed to be nervous on the mound and kept going to his cap, wiping his head.

"It was cold and my hands were so dry I was afraid the ball would start slipping," said Koufax. "The only place there was any moisture was under the cap so I kept going there to get moisture and rub up the ball."

"I've been working hard trying to get in shape. I don't know if rushing is better than taking your time. Everything is backward this year. It's different. I plan no extra rest now. I'll be out there."

Buckeyes Open Title Defense

CHICAGO (AP) — Defending champion Ohio State opened the Big Ten baseball season with a convincing victory Friday while Michigan and Illinois also were victorious.

The Buckeyes downed Michigan State 2-0 on the five-hit pitching of Steve Arlin. Russ Nagelson provided the winning run with a second inning homer.

Ohio State put across an insurance run in the ninth inning. Michigan blanked Indiana 6-0, Illinois recorded a 4-2 triumph over Purdue, Minnesota downed Wisconsin 2-0 and Iowa belted Northwestern 9-0.

Five doubleheaders are scheduled Saturday with Purdue at Illinois, Indiana at Michigan State, Northwestern at Minnesota, Ohio State at Michigan and Wisconsin at Iowa.

Chrysler Sales Pull Total Up

DETROIT (AP) — New car sales faltered in mid-April for every major domestic firm except Chrysler Corp., which led its 1965 pace by a wide margin and pulled the industry total ahead of last year's.

Preliminary sales reports from the four U.S. auto makers showed 237,400 cars were delivered in the April 11-20 period this year, compared with 253,676 for the comparable period last year.

Chrysler was the only company whose sales ran ahead of those in mid-April last year.

Industry observers had awaited the mid-April figures with interest to see what buying trends were developing in the market.

First quarter sales of 2,305,238 cars topped the old mark of 2,192,507 set last year but since then sales have slipped.

The opening 10 days of this month saw 200,193 sales, compared with 246,623 in the comparable period last year. Industry spokesmen blamed much of the sales lag on the railroad strike which cut into deliveries of new cars to dealers.

Chrysler president Lynn A. Townsend told newsmen earlier this week the market still looked strong. He predicted that his forecast of another 9.3 million car year, including import sales, would stand up.

Chrysler, Dodge, Cadillac and Pontiac divisions all reported they sold more cars in mid-April than in any similar period in history.

Hamady Buys 7 National Stores

FLINT (AP) — The purchase of seven National Food stores by Hamady Bros. Inc., of Flint was announced Friday by Robert M. Hamady, president of the Flint chain. The price was not disclosed.

The sale included three stores in Flint, and one each in Ann Arbor, Midland, Ypsilanti and Davison. They will be operated under the Hamady name beginning May 1, Hamady said.

The purchase brings to 27 the number of stores in the Hamady chain.

National Foods is a wholly owned subsidiary of National Tea Co. of Chicago.

France's Auto Firms Cooperate

PARIS (AP) — The nationalized Renault automobile system and the privately owned Peugeot Co. announced Friday an agreement for close cooperation on research, investment policies, and purchasing.

The announcement said that each company would retain its own identity and complete financial autonomy. Nevertheless, officials said that the move was within the framework of government-sponsored efforts for greater concentration in principal French industries to permit stronger competition with big American and European companies.

Zambia Copper Has Labor Spat

Zambia's vital copper industry was given another severe blow Friday when 500 Africans failed to turn up for work at Nechanga Mine — the world's second biggest plant. Production was slashed in half.

A dispute has plagued the mine for almost a week as African allegedly punched a white supervisor and was dismissed.

Africans returned to work while the worker's appeal was heard — then walked out again when the appeal was rejected.

Zambia, the world's largest copper exporter, has just recovered from a two-week stoppage by African mineworkers.

Counties' Timber Brings $20,360

Pinecrest Medicare Facility lands timber at Powers was auctioned off Friday to Pine Timber Co., of Spalding for $20,360.

Second high bidder of $ was Earl St. John, Jr., of Spalding, who bid $20,035.

The timber on the six forties has been estimated by Walter Gunderson, state forester of the Conservation Department. Spalding Supervisor Melvin Fazer conducted the sale at the fire hall in Powers for the owners, Menominee, Delta and Dickinson counties.

The bidding was on basis of stumpage prices for the esti-ated volume of wood by species, which totaled up to the total bid.

The winning prices included $5.75 a cord stumpage for poplar (aspen), of which there is an estimated 1,000 cords on the property, $60 a thousand feet for which birch logs, $12 a cord for spruce pulpwood, $40 a thousand for white pine logs, of which there is an estimated 10,000 feet, and $5 a cord for cedar posts and $18 a thousand for cedar logs.

The timberland lies along U. S. 2 and the Little Cedar River north and west of the Medicare facility.

The other bidders were: Milton Poquette, Powers, $18,515; Antone Verba, Daggett, $15,560; Lawrence Murray, Powers, $15,166 and Art Klatt, Daggett, $15,010.

Walter Fazer of Powers will log the timber for Pine Timber Co. and it is expected to run higher than estimate, said Supervisor Melvin Fazer. In which case the income to the three counties will be higher than the bid price. The last of the lands were acquired by the counties in 1935 and some had not been cut for some years before that time.

Community Action Agencies Act

U.P. War On Poverty Employs 150

By JEAN WORTH

UPCAP brought together the Community Action Agency directors of the Upper Peninsula and area representatives of the low income people with representatives of government agencies working in the War on Poverty this week for a look at the effort which showed that it is making big strides in the Upper Peninsula.

In some phases of the program, said Joseph Tuma, acting director of the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress, the Upper Peninsula program leads the nation.

It is now employing 150 persons in the U. P. at the state and federal levels and the programs which it has underway and which are projected will reach deeply into the fabric of the Peninsula's schooling, employment practices, legal service, health services, housing, financing, and many government functions.

UPCAP Aids

UPCAP has been designated a technical assistance agency to the six Community Action Agencies in the U. P. and the federal government is financing its services through the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Tuma, and Frank Mead of UPCAP, Robert Shackford, Chicago, Lakes States director of Community Action Agencies for the Office of Economic Opportunity (there are 245 CAAs now in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota). Al Gavoda, Hancock, of the Michigan Employment Security Service; and Mike Mahon, Marquette, of the Michigan Department of Social Services met with CAA directors and area representatives this week at Watersmeet, Munising and Escanaba.

It was the first major review of joint efforts of the governmental agencies concerned with the War on Poverty since the U. P. CAAs were staffed at the beginning of the year.

Anti Poverty Program

Russell Adams, director of community services at Northern Michigan University enlisted the aid of the U. P. CAAs in support of a VISTA (Volunteers In Service To America) training program which NMU will conduct starting in June. They will work with low income families.

CAA directors in Escanaba Friday set up Upper Peninsula targets for the antipoverty program and coordinated their actions with UPCAP. The chief goals:

1. Implementation of the Ele Act, under about which $1.5 million has been allocated to U. P. school districts, with a May 2 deadline on Title I projects, which the federal government finances 90 per cent.

The present prospect is that the U. P. will claim most of this allocation and use it for remedial reading, laboratory improvement, improvement of shop-taught skills, health screening and services, and Project Head start, a pre-schooling program. There were about 500 children in Head Start last year and the prospect is that there will be about twice that number in the U. P. next summer.

Job Training

2. Basic education. Under the ESEA and Manpower Development & Training Act and federal legislation, much has been done and more can be done. "We would like to encourage the local school boards to consider this need before occupational training," said Tuma.

Efforts to teach salable job skills has shown a common need for basic education among the trainees. The current Schoolcraft County program to complete high school studies for many adults is one of the more impressive U. P. efforts in this program.

3. Pre-vocational aid. "When you ask the economically distressed what they want to do," said McMahon "they say 'Anything!' Obviously they can't do 'anything,' they must do something specific." This pre-vocational program detects what they can do best and sets up training programs with a variety of the job choices that they are best suited to.

Northern Michigan University is setting up a pre-vocational program and the CAAs will recruit trainees through their area representatives of low income people.

Record Praised

4. Occupational training. The Upper Peninsula has an exceptionally good record in this field, said Shackford, under

Directors Retire

DEARBORN (AP)—Ford Motor Co. directors Donald K. David and Irving A. Duffy will retire from the board in May, the firm said Friday.

Duffy, 62, also will retire as Ford vice president-tractor and Philco Group. He has been a director since 1953.

David, 70, former dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, has been a Ford director since 1950.

the Manpower Training & Development Act. Northern and Michigan Tech have been nationally outstanding and the community colleges have also been impressive. There have been 3,600 graduates of MDTA training in the U. P. and 96 per cent have been placed in "work situations."

Over 12 per cent of the U. P. unemployed have been trained.

"This is probably the most notable record in the United States, in any non-metropolitan area; higher not only in the volumes trained, but in the percentage of placements," said Tuma.

5. On the Job Training. This has now been funded by the federal government and the U. P. is "gearing up for the program in medical, industrial and service trades. "One of the best footholds in the War on Poverty is a job," said Tuma. "People have got to be self-sustaining and not public charges."

Legal Services

6. Housing. In the Upper Peninsula 34.1 per cent of occupied houses are substandard. That means that they have inadequate plumbing or no plumbing, are structurally unsound, have no central heating, unsafe electric wiring and no wiring, or are inadequate in size for the family they house.

The CAAs have established a subcommittee to attack this problem.

7. Legal Services. One of the most significant needs of the impoverished, the War on Poverty has revealed, is legal services. The U. P. is ahead of the general U. S. situation here, but there still is need to give low income people legal protection, especially in domestic matters like divorce and in contractual troubles like creditor-debtor problems.

UPCAP will sponsor an U. P.-wide agency, U. P. Legal Services, Inc., to provide such legal aid. CAA Directors William James, a Sault Ste. Marie attorney, and Howard Pierce, Marquette, are developing the plan. It would provide a board of 15 attorneys, judges and lay representatives from the CAAs and would hire a full time attorney at a proposed $10,000 a year for each CAA, and a coordinating attorney at $15,000 for overall direction.

Tied To Economy

Legal representation of low income people in all cases except crimes (where the court appoints counsel for the indigent) would be provided and the 10 per cent local cost would be met by provision of free office space and by community education programs and preventive law courses offered the public as a volunteer labor by the Bar Association. Estimated cost to each CAA from its federal allotment for this service: $6,000 a year.

8. Comprehensive Health Services. "At the moment this is less advanced than the other programs in the Upper Peninsula," said Shackford. Two CAAs, Dickinson - Iron and Schoolcraft-Delta - Menominee have dental programs in the planning stage.

NMU's trainees showed the common need of dental work. "If there's a major organic defect we can't reasonably expect people to earn a living," said Shackford.

Shackford was impressed with the tie-in between the CAAs and economic development in the U. P. "This is the only solution," he said. "There is no use repairing humans if there is nothing for them to enjoy."

Gainsborough Theft Foiled

NEW YORK (AP)—The normal peace and quiet of the Metropolitan Museum of Art was shattered Friday by buzzers, shouts and footfalls as guards chased a young man fleeing with a Gainsborough painting.

The thief dropped the 18th century miniature (7 1/2 by 6 inches) and disappeared into the crowd. The painting was recovered undamaged. Museum officials refused to set a value on the Gainsborough, called "A Portrait of Lady Mulgrave."

Chopper Parts

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The Army Aviation Materiel Command here has awarded a $3-million contract for helicopter parts to Chandler Evans, Inc., of West Hartford, Conn.
